All About H. Ford
He'll Bid $ Millions
A New Ford-Lincoln
The Wants Help From Jews

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Some news about Henry Ford.

Yesterday morning, at his Dearborn plant, he casually mentioned to this writer the fact that he had promised to bid eight millions in cash for the Lincoln As-tomobile Company, when it is put up for sale in February.

He did not particularly want another company, he said; did not know exactly what he would do. In case control of the Lincoln should fall into his hands, but he had deep respect for Mr.

Leland, founder of the Lincoln company, and one of the most useful constructive forces in the whole automobile industry. Therefore, he was glad to promise his eight million dollar bid.

Speculators would have been glad to hear Mr. Ford's casual remark for the Lincoln stock in the course of the day went up about 800 per cent. in value. It will be interesting to see what Ford does in case he gets the Lincoln plant to add to his other little industrial enterprises. He didn't call himself; his interest was in helping an old friend, and in the thousands of workmen involved in the shutting down of the Lincoln plant.

Passing from his office to the mechanical laboratory, Ford develops new things. Ford pointed to a mechanical drawing saying, "There's the new track. It will have the front end of my tractor, the engine, and the rear end of the present Ford track. See how much space we save by putting the driver close up in front." Ford says the track will be ready "perhaps next July."

That news will interest the railroads; it will give them considerable competition in local freights.

Mr. Ford mentioned another piece of news that would fascithousands of automobile dealers in the United States, but that was private and can't be printed. Most important is this: Henry Ford seems to this writer to have learned that to co-operate with the Jews is considerably wiser than to fight them—especially an award and the Jews have not disagreed them, after nearly two thousand years of effort.

Mr. Ford is interested in a new kind of money. He thinks it propose to have a currency based on a tiny supply of gold, he knows that the Jews have the greatest financial ability and wisdom. He feels that if he can convince the Jewish bankers that his theory is sound, ancient traditions won't prevent him accepting it.

Abraham died in sheep and camels. Since his day, everything that is worth having has been dealt by Jews, they know what money and trade are.

New financial plans are not entirely absorbed, but Ford's is simple and the Jews should profit immensely.

Mr. Ford has offered to take over Muscle Shoals, in which the government has put millions, by using his business ability in a way useful to the public and giv-

PREPARED OF FRANCE RESISTANCE

Paris, Jan. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Millerand today accepted the resignation of Premier Briand and his entire cabinet, and indicated he would not ask any one to form a new ministry before tomorrow.

Attorney of War Barthelemy and Premier Briand were mentioned prominently in parliamentary debates as likely candidates for the task of forming a new government.

Mr. Briand's intention to resign was announced to the Chamber at the close of the day's session.

The announcement came as an entire surprise, as he had apparently won the sympathy of the Chamber. His colleagues of the Cabinet were filled with astonishment at his sudden determina-

Attempt to Rule Out Poison Gas Is First Intelligent Act of Conference

Editor of Boston American:

There certainly has been a praiseworthy effort made by the conference at Washington to put poison gas in the category with dum dum bullets and rule it out of civilized warfare. There may be some doubt that this prohibition can be made effective, because if one nation resorts to poison gas other nations will have to.

Yet there is a hope that it can be made effective in the fact that the dum dum bullet has been so completely suppressed by the general sentiment of all nations.

This is, to my mind, the first intelligent thing that the conference at Washington has done—the first thing that is actually based on humanity and not on the special, selfish interest of some one nation trying to put another nation at a disadvantage, that other nation being almost invariably the United States of America.

The attempt to limit the construction of submarines and restrict their radius of action is obviously a plan of Great Britain to protect her own superior commerce and to make effective her dominant sea power, because her navy, plus her convertible merchant ships, does give her an enormous dominance over the sea power of any other nation.

And this dominance is still further increased by the understanding which we all know exists between Great Britain and Japan.

Since the Napoleonic wars, when the American, Robert Fulton, perfected and demonstrated the success of the submarine, British diplomacy has steadily sought to outlaw the submarine, not because it was inhumane, but because it was the only defensive weapon that threatened to nullify the mastery and control of the seas by Great Britain.

The attempt to limit the submarine is a positive attempt to limit the defensive power of the United States and to make Great Britain's dominance in sea power doubly overwhelming in case it were ever directed at the United States.

The probability that it surely will be some day so directed is proved by history, if we are capable of reading history understandingly. England has invariably used her sea power to destroy her commercial rivals—first Spain, then Holland, then France, then Germany—and during the War of 1912 the merchant marine and the commerce of the United States.

To oppose the schemes of Great Britain to restrict the defensive power of other nations through the ban upon submarines

DETROIT SHOWS BIG ECONOMIC CITY LIGHTING

Municipal Plants Furnish Power for Streets and Buildings

By CHARLES O. POWER.

The Boston committee of members of the City Council studying electric lighting problems arrived in New York today after an all-day trip from Detroit.

One of the most interesting and instructive sights of the time was the Detroit municipal plant, which is one of the largest in the world with 230 acres and trailers in regular service, 200 in reserve and more than a hundred miles of track.

It operates its own municipal lighting plant, lighting the streets and municipal buildings. It was one of the first cities in the country to adopt the electric lamp for street lighting, and it was the first to use the incandescent lamp at railroad crossings in alley and in some small sections recently annexed to the city, all the street lighting is by electric lamps.

MRS. GARLAND SILENT

Protested by her father and mother, Mrs. Garland refused to be seen or to say a word one way or the other.

HARVEY, ACCUSED STOCK BROKER, MISSING

Fails to Appear Before Public Utilities Board After Complaints

Arthur M. Harvey, a stock broker at No. 11 Exchange street, who is charged with stock selling in violation of the Blue Sky law, was today reported as missing the missing. Harvey was summoned by the Department of Public Utilities to appear at a hearing this morning. He did not attend.

Complaints against him were made to the department by William H. Baine of Waltham, Patrick O'Connell of Hyde Park and Albert M. Callahan, Jr. of Rossmore street, Lowergate. They alleged they bought stock from Harvey on the partial payment plan and were unable to obtain the stock. They said Harvey left his office in December and could not be found.

Science has it that when you are sometimes gross weak, thin, and emaciated on an abundance of food (locking in vitamins) while with a much smaller amount of food, rich in vitamins, you may quickly take on good firm flesh, increase in weight, and make a remarkable gain in strength, energy and endurance, provided your blood contains sufficient quantity of oxygenated organic iron to enable your body to assimilate your food properly.

Without organic iron both food and vitamins are absolutely useless as your body cannot change lighter food into meat matter into living cells and these cells give you plenty of organic iron in part.

And without organic iron in part, the vitamins are useless. At least the problem is solved in that you may now obtain pure organic iron like the iron in meat from any drug store under the name of "Dissolved Iron."

WHICH comic series in the Boston American do you like BEST?

Which comic series in the Boston American do you like LEAST?

The Boston American will give fifty original drawings to its readers who write the last letters on the above subject. Each of the fifty winners may designate his favorite series, and an original drawing by that artist who created that series will be given each winner.

Everybody is eligible. The letter must be divided into two parts—the first part devoted to the writer's opinion of the comic series which the participant regards as best, and the second part to the comic series which the participant regards as least meritorious. A voting blank is printed herewith.

Use that with your letter. The letter will end on February 1. Men, women and children are eligible. Only one vote and letter permitted to each participant.

All letters should be addressed to the Comic Editor Boston American, 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

Letters may be either written in pen and ink or typewritten on one side of paper. Let your letter and vote count.

MEXICAN CREDIT EXCELLENT, SAYS REPORT

U. S. Association Makes This Statement After Probing Conditions in That Country

BY OTHMAN STEVENS

(Special to the Boston American.)
Mexico City, Jan. 12.—If you were wandering through a jungle in India and met a Bengal tiger you might move him with altruistic benevolence of kindness, you might impress him with arguments of political necessity, or you might argue with him on the basis that you were a representative of Standard Oil, or a partner of J. P. Morgan, and expect his sympathy and his interest in not eating you.

But if you encountered in the financial jungle of New York a credit man, it would be useless to read disquisitions to him, it would be no avail to say you were a member of the V. M. C. A. or had taken a Harvard or a Stanford psycho-analysis.

You would have to show him that you paid your bills.

Today I came across a bit of evidence about Mexico to a business man's office that should count more toward a credit of recognition than any statement from presidents, cabinet ministers or nobles of any sort in Mexico.

"CREDITS ARE EXCELLENT."
For this evidence is contained in a circular, for some impossible reason marked "confidential," a circular issued by the National Association of Credit Men of the good old U. S. A.

The American business man who had the circular handed to me with the remark that as regards our paragraph, it was the "confidential" instruction.

"That paragraph advises the members of the association that the agents have investigated the conditions of the eleven different businesses in Mexico having transactions with Americans, and that 'Mexican credits are excellent.'"

Can more than that be said about any nation?

And here are some figures about business with Mexico since 1910, the last year of the Diaz regime, and to the present year of business between the two countries down to the end of the year with last June, and when you read the figures remember the President Obregon took his seat in May, 1920.

Then note with confidence in Obregon did to business; nothing but a trade balance in favor of the United States of $113,412,212.

TRADE FIGURES.
But note that all this business was in spite of countless difficulties, of lack of means and methods of the usual means of business, because many of the facilities of business are under the best of the Diaz regime.

In 1910 Mexico bought $25,215,580 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1911 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1912 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1913 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1914 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1915 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1916 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1917 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1918 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1919 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1920 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1921 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

In 1922 Mexico bought $11,150,260 worth of manufactured products and sold to the United States $1,150,260 worth of Mexican products.

their government is doing its level best to meet their wishes.

Canada does not feel that way; that dominion sent a trade commission here which has just left, and announced its decision at once to establish a steamship line from Vancouver to Vera Cruz, via our coast, for business that their capitalists propose to do.

Germany does not think so, for it has business proposals of the most tempting kind for the Mexicans, and offers instead of cash to take product in payment for what it sells.

England does not think so, for British capitalists are here securing contracts for building many miles of railways.

SAYS HE TOOK LIQUOR

TO SALOON TO DRINK

Charles O'Leary and Jeremiah O'Brien, proprietors of a near-by saloon on Main street, Charlestown, were discharged by United States Commissioner Wheeler today when Rufus W. Saunders, a customer, testified he personally brought the liquor found in his glass during a raid. Saunders, who lives on Cross street, Somerville, was immediately arrested on a charge of illegal possession. Saunders said he brought the liquor to the saloon to drink, because his wife objected to his drinking at home.

BURGLAR RAID STIRS JACKSON COLLEGE

Rooms in Girls' Dormitory Ransacked; See Two Raiders Leaving Building

The ransacking of Graves House, Jackson College dormitory, by burglars early today is arousing the faculty of Tufts and Jackson Colleges in Medford Hillside.

Graves House on Latin way, College Hill, is occupied by a number of girl students at Jackson. The maids, Miss Madeline Reed, went downstairs before daylight this morning and heard the voices of two men as they were leaving the building. She tried to switch on the lights, but the fuses had been turned in their sockets, cutting off the current. Miss Reed looked out and saw one of the men going away. She could not see the other, but heard him. The police have a description of the man she saw.

She telephoned the Somerville police, who furnish protection to College Hill by special arrangements with the Medford authorities and two of them were dispatched to the Hill. A search showed that all the rooms on the first floor had been ransacked and their occupants' desks, closets and drawers were emptied and their contents scattered in confusion. A small sum of money was the only thing missing.

SALEM MAN BADLY HURT JUMPING FROM TRAIN

Christopher Bradley, No. 11 Harbor street, Salem, in jumping today from an express train at Lynn, broke his nose and fractured his cheek bone, he sides injuring his knees and hands. He was taken to Lynn Hospital. Dr. Baker, after bandaging the train at Salem, found that it didn't stop at Lynn and jumped from the train as it neared the Lynn station.

She was eighty-one years of age. Her husband, whose entrance was committed to penal servitude, made a sensational escape, joined the American army and was retired as a major.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY Tea-Dance for Miss Anna Hall Marks Busy Day for Buds

By BETTY ALDEN.
TODAY is a day of days for the debutantes, especially just now, when the various affairs of this month are just beginning to find their place upon the social calendar.

Festivities will begin at 4:30 this afternoon with the tea-dance in honor of Miss Anna Hall, whose mother, Mrs. Henry L. Hall, No. 512 Commonwealth avenue, is giving the affair for her at the Hotel Somerset.

The group of powers for the occasion includes Miss Mary Hall, the debutante daughter of Mrs. L. Linzee Hall of Medford, who is one of the most attractive of this season's debutantes. She is no less popular than she is pretty and for that reason has assisted quite a few of her sister-debuts at their various coming-out parties. As one of the busiest workers of the Junior League's provisional membership group she has aided at numerous charity events given by the smart set.

Other girls who will pour at Miss Anna Hall's tea this afternoon include Miss Nell White, who came out a year ago; the Misses Patricia Clapp, Betty Cole, Ethel Cummings, Rachel Smith, Frances Sturges, Mary Barlow, Elizabeth Morse, Nina Fletcher, Elizabeth Anderson of New York, and Clara Barnes, a debutante.

Several other affairs will be given later in the month for Miss Hall, who is of the May School group of girls.

Also today, or rather this evening, comes the large dance which Mrs. A. Wilder Pollard of Commonwealth avenue is giving to introduce her youngest daughter, Miss Patricia Pollard. Not many of the Boston debas have made their bow to society at large hotel balls this year, thus the Pollard dance stands out conspicuously among the entire list of deb affairs.

Preceding the dance, a sister of Miss Pollard, Mrs. Jonathan S. Raymond (daughter Pollard), will entertain for her at dinner at the Raymond home at No. 11 Marlboro street. The guests will include a group of the young debutantes' friends and the men who will act as ushers at tonight's ball. Included among the latter are Jonathan S. Raymond, her brother-in-law; Alvin S. Bartwell, another brother-in-law; J. Murray Kay, George von L. Meyer, Frederick Burnham, John W. Prentiss of New York, Thomas Wade, Francis Cummings, Livingston Hartley, Edward Rose, Robert Thayer, Edward Ohi, Brooks Potter, Roger Phillips, Julius Wadsworth of New York, Frank Mason, Philip Hahn, Wright Palfrey, Wilmer T. Sams of Baltimore, Leonard Larrabee, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Francis Jencks of Baltimore.

Appropos of the dance tonight in honor of the youngest member of the Pollard family, the entire family enjoyed the greatest of social prestige and popularity among members of the smart set.

Society recalls the important social event which transformed the petite Pauline Pollard into the bride of Jonathan S. Raymond, Yale '17. The wedding took place some five years ago. I believe, in Emmanuel Church, when the bride had as her attendants her two sisters, Mrs. Alvin (Doris) Bartwell, and Miss Katherine Pollard, the latter a debutante of that year. Then followed an extended honeymoon trip to China and Japan, where the young bride had been a year or so before with her parents.

The former Elsie Pollard and her husband, "Pete" Bartwell, who have joined the Winter colony at the North Shore this season, are both ardent devotees to the god of sport and figure extensively in the various entertainments given at the shore and in town, too. Last summer, when the large Army and Navy Festival was held at Piquette Field, Wrentham, it was Pete Bartwell who was put in charge of the committee to carry out the arrangements, a position carrying with it no little responsibility, for the festival stood out as the largest charity affair held at the shore last summer.

Another sister, Katherine Pollard, has done some splendid work at Dr. Grenfell's mission in Labrador, having spent several seasons there with her friend, Miss Faith Standwood. Both she and Miss Standwood were among the guiding spirits for the month-long held last summer at the Hawthorne Inn, Gloucester, in aid of Dr. Grenfell's mission.

Random Notes of Society Folk in Town and Country

MRS. JAMES CUMMINGS BARR of New York, formerly of Boston, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Landon Humphreys, in Concord, N. J., and will be joined by Mr. Barr, at present in Boston, about January 21, at their apartment, No. 11 East Sixty-eighth street. Mr. and Mrs. Burr (Lilla M. Griffith) were among the New York folk who came on to Boston for the Harvard-Yale game. Mr. Barr is a member of the class of '96.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Chase of Boston have arrived at Palm Beach, where they are registered at The Breakers. En route to the Florida resort, Mr. and Mrs. Chase stopped in St. Augustine for a short time.

Mrs. Grafton Minot was among the guests at the dinner given in Washington by Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall Bullitt. Others in the company were the Russian Ambassador, Boris Baklanoff, the Chinese Minister and Miss Roe, the chairman of the Shipping Board and Mrs. Albert D. Lasker, Sir Robert Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spencer.

Mrs. Richard T. Wilson gave a dinner at her home on Park avenue, New York, for her debutante daughter, Miss Louise Wilson. Afterward, Mrs. Wilson, who was formerly Marian Mason of this city, will be guests to the costume ball given in the crystal room of the Ritz Carlton for the benefit of the Soldiers and Sailors' Club.

CAREY BILL PROVIDES ELECTION OF JUDGES

A constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of Massachusetts judges by the people will be taken up in a bill soon to be filed by Senator John J. Carey of Dorchester. The amendment will provide that judges of the Superior, Supreme and Land Courts be elected by vote of the entire State, judges of district courts by the people of the district in which they are to sit, and judges of probate and insanity by counties.

The terms of various judges are to be set by the Legislature. That body is also expected to create the machinery for selecting candidates for the new courts.

TIME FOR FILING BILLS EXPIRES SATURDAY

One Wants Party Nominations in Hub, Another Asks Biennial Sessions of General Court

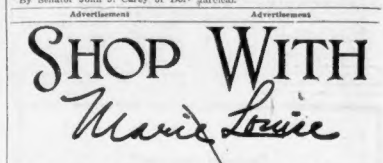

The time for filing bills to be heard at this session of the Legislature will expire on Saturday at 5 o'clock. Scores are being dropped into the legislative hopper. Among those today:

By Senator William D. Read of Taunton and Representative Eben S. Draper of Hingham—For biennial, instead of annual, sessions of the Legislature. By Senator Danforth of Brockton—That a union picture theatre that sells tickets when there are no seats available shall lose its license. By Senator John J. Carey of Dorchester—For party nominations and party elections of the Mayor and other officials of Boston.

CROSVENOR ASKS AUDIT OF ESSEX COUNTY FUNDS

John M. Crosvenor of the Essex County Commissioners, the body charged by the Grand Jury with allowing the wasteful and extravagant expenditures of the funds of the Essex County Agricultural School, today filed with the House clerk a bill for an audit of the school's accounts by the State Director of Accounts.

There are seven trustees of the school, three of whom are the County Commissioners. The Grand Jury attacked the management of the school as "so grossly negligent that it is farcical."

PATTI MARBLE, giving so much pleasure in the title role in "The Girl in the Red Dress," has this to say on Norman's Lemon Cream—That there is no better product to preserve the fine texture of the skin. She, for one, recognizes the importance of a well-ordered skin. We might take it as a hint from the wise.

ON a little rack, obscurely tucked away, I discovered several did value in mark-down—For instance, a dark blue tulle dress, worth $10 with the blouse waist and beautiful high collar in pure white, were reduced to long lines, at $2.50. And still another in blue-lace cape, dark blue, long lines, at $1.50. These Marie Louise will give you are interested to know where.

Pearls

From January 16 to 21 we shall have an unusually fine exhibit of pearls and pearl necklaces. We hope that you will come in so that we may show them to you.

Pearl necklaces have been the favorite ornament of beautiful women from early Egyptian days until the present time. No other kind of jewelry has played such important parts in making and remaking history, through every century.

There is nothing to equal the simple beauty of a well-matched string of pearls. No one tires of pearls, for they are never changing, yet ever changing. They have the delicate tint of daybreak, the first blush of dawn, reflected in their soft white depths.

It is now one hundred and twenty-two years since we first began to handle pearls. The traditions, judgment, and experience of these many years have been passed along to our salesmen of today.

OMASNEY ASKS ABLE LAWYERS FOR THE POOR

file Bill in Legislature to Compel Courts to Appoint Experienced Counsel

Representative Martin M. Omasney today filed with the Legislature a bill to compel the courts to appoint "able and experienced" counsel for persons under indictment for capital crimes.

While Omasney, after filing the bill, stated in his usual custom of refusing from discussing legislation until it is officially reached for debate, it is known that he was prompted to do so by the fact that he has caused him to file innumerable bills for the "down-and-out" during his long service on the Hill.

He feels that a man charged with murder is on trial for his very life. He may be entirely innocent. Why wouldn't he have the best defense that it is possible to provide? Old and experienced lawyers defend their skill in making money for themselves, while the young and inexperienced, seeking a salary, often are assigned the vital task of defending the man charged with murder. The best defense offered by the best lawyers defend a man's life?

Young Bulgarian King Will Not Seek Bride In America

Sofia, Jan. 12. (By Associated Press).—Young King Boris of Bulgaria says he has no intention of marrying an American girl if he should visit the United States with Premier Stambouly next spring, as he now hopes to do. The King laughed when the idea was suggested to him that he might find an American Queen.

"That is an extremely interesting and novel idea," he said. "But I am afraid it isn't true. Anyway I'm too busy with the reconstruction of the country and other vital problems to give any time to matrimonial projects."

ONLY 2 SOLDIERS HANGED, SAYS COLONEL HAM

Other Ex-Service Men Uphold
His Testimony in Probe of Senator Watson's Charges

By Associated Press.
Washington, Jan. 12.—Only two soldiers were hanged at Is-Sur-Tille while he was in command there from March to July, 1919, Colonel Ham told a committee investigating charges that Senator Watson's charges.

He said the post chaplain was dis- sented, and to make with them com- monly.

The military police were directed to throw a cordon around the scaffold and the Mayor and town authorities were asked to attend. Colonel Ham said, however, that nearly all the "French women, sent. Several in the neighborhood were present.

"How many American soldiers were present?" he was asked.
"Not over 20 or 30," he replied.
"How many French were there?"

"About 400," he replied.
Colonel Watson, Democrat, Georgia, questioned the officer regarding the sentence of the first man hanged. "The only thing I was concerned of was the mandate from the high command," said Colonel Ham. "I was not present at the trial."

The second soldier, a white man, was put to death a month later, he said. There were 20,000 men at camp at the time and by Colonel Ham's directing the cause of each hanging being the cause of each hanging, he was publicly stated from the scaffold a warning that there must be law and order.

"The man hanged was convicted of assault on a nine year old girl," said Colonel Ham. "There was no other hanging, no hangings at Is-Sur-Tille while I was there."

That the testimony of former soldiers that men in the American army were killed by French soldiers, Colonel Ham, speaking with authority, declared.

"That is not possible," James R. Howett of Hempstead, N. Y., who succeeded Colonel Ham at Is-Sur-Tille, said there were no executions, beat or otherwise, while he was at the post.

John V. Ryan, who was adjutant at Is-Sur-Tille, declared he was positive there were no executions. None took place there in his opinion. He said, as alleged by other witnesses.

Howett's testimony was given by formerly an officer at the camp.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

By FRIDA DAVID.
It is in the interests of those who have children who show latent talent for acting, or who desire to know what their children, that I write of the conditions in motion picture circles at present. Questions of inquiries on this subject come to me in the course of a few weeks.

First of all, it is only fair to say that the outlook during the present upturn of motion picture production is very promising. There are too few positions open, and too many applicants for them. On the other hand, this same condition means that real talent will triumph over anything that resembles a "flash in the pan."

That a child is precocious should in no way be taken as an indication that he is fitted for the films. On the contrary, it is the child who is natural and unaffected who wins out, for the screen, like the stage, is a place where the "mirror up to nature."

If you know of a young person who is looking for, the only way to prove your point is to take the child to a casting director. Every studio has someone who receives all applicants, who puts them through the paces, and judges of their suitability.

Should the child pass his examination successfully he is then given a test. That is, he is photographed "in action." That is the decisive point. If he passes that test successfully the rest is comparatively plain sailing.

The only approach to the motion picture industry is through the casting director. There are few, if any, other channels to opportunities in pictures.

The first of the South Sea film to follow on the heels of the stories of O'Brien, Hector McQuarrie, "Col. Trapnell," Joseph Conrad and Somerset Maugham is "The Lagoon of Death," made by the Far East Productions.

The "Lagoon of Death" is completed after a sojourn of several weeks in and about Papeete, chief city of Tahiti, where local actors turned out full force to make the picture authentic. Arthur Rosson, formerly director for Goldwyn, took a company of Hollywoodians to the South Seas for the film. Among the local natives are Ruth Henkle, Edward Hearn, Matt Whitman and Edward Stratton. The rest of the cast is largely made up of local talent.

"POOLISH WIVES" OPENS.
It will be interesting to hear the report of the public on the "Polish Wives," which opened in New York last night. The picture is somewhat along the lines of the first film made by this extravagant director, "United Husbands."

There has been a great deal of discussion as to when the picture would be ready for release. Whether it has been good or bad publicity leaves room for discussion. Von Stroheim has been spending money with a lavish hand on the production and has given free rein, according to all report, to his temperament.

There is a story current in the film colony of the West coast that two "extras" were discussing the hard times in the film industry. "What's your idea about it?" one asked. The other replied indignantly, "Working in a Von Stroheim film."

TO DEPORT FOR AFTER 2 YEARS COURT FIGHT

Any Colyer and Three Others
Taken in Red Raids Force
Long Delay

William T. Colyer, Amy Colyer, Frank Black and Lew Donday today remained in the custody of the United States Commissioner at immigration for deportation by a decision handed down by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The four were taken into custody in the Red Raids two years ago and were ordered deported by the immigration authorities at that time.

The deportation order was on the grounds that they advocated the overthrow of the existing government of the United States by force and violence.

They secured attorneys and appealed from the deportation order. The United States District Judge George W. Johnson, ruled that the four had not advocated force and violence in their teaching of communism theory, and ordered them discharged from the custody of the immigration service authorities.

The United States District Attorney's office appealed from Judge Johnson's decision and the case was argued in the court of Appeals.

Judge Johnson, who wrote the opinion of the lower court, said:

"It seems to us that a program which advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence is not within the scope of the First Amendment of the Constitution."

Anderson's decision was made on the ground that there was no evidence that the immigration inspectors who saw the Colyers, Black and Donday, a hearing, tended to show that the Communist party believed in, advocated, or sought the overthrow of the government.

During the Red agitation which followed the signing of the armistice in Europe in 1918, the Colyers, who are English, were prominent. They were known as "unfortunates" by the Communists, in distinction to the working men who made up the great host of members. Bender and Slack were prominent in the Communist movement.

The Colyers lived in New York and were active in the work of the Communist party. Colyer was one of his last efforts to escape emigration during the war and he took no trouble in doing so. He had no stomach for fighting the battles of the revolution.

The four are out on bail and have not yet heard from the Immigration Commissioner Wilson.

THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE OF MOTORING

Now on Sale

$1.00 the Copy

If you are going to the Show, first go through this issue of Motor and note what cars are today made in the type you desire, and in the price-class from which you wish to purchase.

This will enable you to spend your time at the Show to your greatest profit and advantage, and to avoid missing any make or model that you would be glad to see.

If you cannot get to the Show, this January Annual Show and Reference Number of Motor will bring to you everything to be had at the Show, excepting life-size views of the cars.

And, whether you visit the Show or not, you will find in this mammoth magazine a wealth of detail regarding all American passenger cars that you could not secure through weeks of show-visiting.

This issue of Motor presents, in tabulated form for easy reference, the complete specifications of every make and model of American-made passenger car. Every detail, from price and passenger capacity to spring and axle-bolt lubrication, is covered, so that each model can be analyzed and compared, point for point, with other cars of the same class.

In view of the unprecedented revision of motor car models and prices during the past year, it is today imperative that the prospective purchaser of a new car should become acquainted with present conditions—in order to insure himself of selecting the car best adapted to his needs, and of obtaining greatest value for his investment.

As an instance of the sort of changes that have taken place in the last twelve months in the motor car market, it is significant that of 44 models of cars in the $1,000 to $1,499 class a year ago, but 29 of them remain in this class while 57 have been added to this division.

In addition to this sort of essential information for the intelligent motor car purchaser, this issue contains 350 illustrations of the new cars; and articles by leading authorities on present trends and probable future trends in motor car development.

There is also included, in its three hundred and more broad pages, a wealth of valuable articles, covering all phases of motor car operation, maintenance, equipment and accessories.

Get this great number today. Its price of $1.00 the copy is an indication of the high value placed by Motor, as the culmination of its eighteen years of dominating prestige in the automobile field.

Every intending buyer of a motor car, every present owner of a motor car, every one interested in the automotive industry, directly or indirectly needs this Year Book of the automobile.

WOMAN SHERIFF FACES HANGING OF MAN SHE SAVED FROM MOB

LET'S BRUSH UP ON THIS SUBJECT! Of all the winter garments, what is any smarter than this attractive apricot tuxedo of brushed wool with black trimmings? It has all the advantages of warmth, smartness and economy.

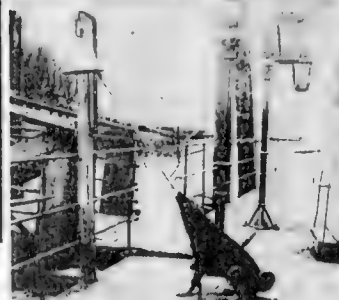

SIC 'EM, DOCTORS! N.Y. State Assemblyman Malin, who has just introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor for a male physician to examine a woman patient except when another female is in attendance.

FINGERS THAT HEAR! Miss Katherine Stoffens of Detroit, who has been deaf since infancy, recently made the startling discovery that she could read telephone messages through her sensitive fingers.

DR. VORONOFF CERTAINLY MADE THIS A GLAND OLD AGE! Miss H. has just harvested its 1922 crop of beauties and, here they are! Each one was a prize at the annual Bathing Girls' Review, where the latest in bathing suits was smartly exhibited.

EVER HEAR OF A DOG WATCH? Oscar, not a watch dog, Fritz, who draws his rations aboard a Danish tramp steamer, does his "watch" aboard ship regularly. Here he is sitting a wharf ball as cleverly as an old tar. (Gilliam.)

MRS. GUNDA MARTINDALE of Waukon, Iowa, who, on March 9, will be forced to take the life of the man she once saved. As sheriff of Waukon County she will be compelled to pull the rope that will send Earl Throst, confessed slayer of a school teacher, to his death on the gallows. Farmers threatened to lynch him, but she escaped with her prisoner.

TOPPING OFF PRESIDENTS! Here's an occupation that keeps one brushing up continuously, but L. Kahn of Milwaukee, Wis., considers it the most fascinating in the world, particularly as he makes top-pieces for Presidents. Shown polishing one up for Mr. Harding.

THE LINK THAT WELDS TWO GREAT CITIES! Actual work has started on what will be the world's latest suspension bridge, connecting Philadelphia with Camden, N.J., across the Delaware River. It will be 3,760 feet long and will not be finished before July 4, 1926. Here is a model of the great span.

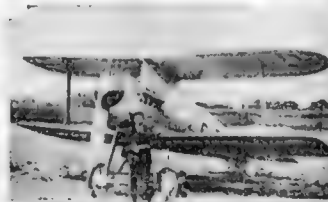

HERE'S TO GOOD OLD YALE, ETC.! Athletic records set by Old Eli athletes have stood the attacks made by modern sport outfits. Here is Yale's greatest baseball battery, Jesse Dunn (left), catcher, and Alonzo Steag, pitcher. They brought an baseball championships to the Blue.

ALLAN MURRAY of Philadelphia had his leg broken. It healed two inches shorter than other. Had a bone removed from "good leg" to make them same height, and now he's a professional fancy skater. (P. & A.)

MISS EDITH J. ELLIS of Harvard, Mass., is awarded $5 for this cute photo in the Pretty Motorist Test. Only a few days left to enter. Address Pictorial Editor.

FASTEST THING ON WINGS! With an authentic speed of 212 miles an hour, this little plane broke all existing speed records for airplanes at Martlesham, England. It was propelled by a 450 h. p. "Napier" engine. Incidentally this was the 1921 air derby.

DID YOU EVER SKI-JOUR? It's great sport and is very similar to aqua-planing on the water. Here is a couple of society people at Lake Placid, N.Y., in a ski-jouring race. It consists of two fast race horses, two pairs of skis and two persons with more courage than that of the average cake eater. You wait along the soft snow at a wild clip, exercising great care to keep your balance, otherwise you get a nasty tumble.

LOST MODESTY IS SOMETHING THAT CAN NEVER BE RECOVERED

FANS SHAKE RED SOX IN Indoor Sports RUSH TO SUPPORT OF HUSTLING BRAVES

Out of town fans as well as the homebreds are worried about the Red Sox. One of the following letters, from a former Cleveland, shows that he was willing to adopt Boston baseball, but that the child of his adoption is not satisfactory. Cleveland, as you know, is all American League. The National ball is there.

Letters continue to pour in for the Braves in Boston next spring. While, of course, most are very pleasing to Owner Grange, who is very anxious to get a real ball team and not make all the money he can out of the game, some are not so complimentary. These communications are interesting.

Write your ideas on the letter in to the sporting editor. If you think the recent letter helped you so, as you think otherwise, say so. Address letters to Sporting Editor, Boston American, No. 88 Summer street. All letters will be published.

How Can Red Sox Be Saved for Boston?

Boston fans have their own ideas about the Red Sox. Some think Owner Grange has completely wrecked the team. Others believe there is still hope of reviving a ball club from the ruins.

The American League situation is a big thing in sports here and now. A consensus of fan opinion would be sure to win out the fables than anything else. Harsh, but realistic criticism hasn't helped much. A real show-down of sentiment.

By TAD HUTCHISON SAYS MEDAL PLAY GIVES GOLFERS REAL THRILLS

By JOCK HUTCHISON
Golf is different from most games in the variety of play that is offered. A golfer can get quite a lot of amusement and satisfaction out of the game even by playing alone. However, if you want to get a real thrill, you must play with a partner.

Match play is one thing and medal play is another. Although both games are played on the same course, the two are quite different. In medal play, the golfer who makes the fewest strokes wins.

WRESTLERS IN DISPUTE OVER REFEREE

Londons and Gardin Fall to Agree on Third Man for Big Mat Bout

Temperament has already been a crop out between Jimmy Londons and Renate Gardin, and as both wrestlers can give the averages good points on this bout, it will require diplomacy to smooth matters.

It all came up over the selection of a referee for the battle in Madison Square Garden. The two men named are representatives of the highest point of personal rectitude, but promoter Tushy felt that because of the importance of the event a neutral official should be selected.

"In the old days the trumpets sailed," she went on; "was their note different then from now — and is the heart of a maid different then from now?"

FOR SAFE STREETS

By Brice Belden, M. D.

Like those of the city of New York would, if they could be established in all large municipalities, greatly reduce the number of fatalities from street accidents. For every year there are hundreds of deaths from moving vehicles in each of the larger cities. It has been shown that such deaths outnumber those from typhoid fever and scarlet fever combined. Especially in districts where there are no playgrounds and play-streets needed.

Anything that increases the death rate of a community reflects upon its healthfulness. Therefore every effort must be expended looking to the warning of both pedestrians and drivers against the danger of reckless driving on the part of the latter and carelessness and thoughtlessness on the part of the former when they are mixed.

A recent penny accidents are due to crossing directly in front of moving vehicles having the right of way. Children, especially, should be taught not to cross a street in the middle of the block, but only at the regular street crossings, and drivers should be compelled to lessen speed at all such crossings.

A good set of rules is that adopted by the Safety-First League of Philadelphia, is chiefly for the benefit of children:

- 1—Always go to the main street crossing before you cross the street.
- 2—Before crossing the street—STOP! Look in both directions.
- 3—When crossing in back of vehicles—LOOK! See what is coming the other way.
- 4—Trolley bells and motor horns.
